

E-NOTE

European Network On Teaching Excellence

SECOND PhD SUPERVISION EXCELLENCE FOR ACADEMIC STAFF
5.06.2023 - 9.06.2023

SPEAKERS

www.teachingexcellence.eu

Co-funded by the Erasmus+ Programme of the European Union

UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN

Lydie Cabane

Lydie Cabane is Assistant Professor in Governance of Crises at the Institute for Security and Global Affairs, with an interdisciplinary background in sociology and political science. Her research aims to explain the wide diffusion of crisis management in a variety of domains worldwide, and to contribute to an analysis of states transformations, governance, regulation and public policy.

Dario Capezzuto (TBC)

Dario Capezzuto (TBC) is a Policy Officer at the European Commission Directorate-General for Research and Innovation (DG RTD), Unit R&I Actors and Research Careers. He has a legal background and deals mainly with EU policies and instruments for researchers, skills for researchers, universities. Before joining the Commission in 2020, he served for over 10 years as policy advisor to a Member of the European Parliament and vice-president of a political group in the chamber. He was in charge of EU policies with a specific focus on foreign affairs, security and defence, regional development.

Cláudia Cavadas

Cláudia Cavadas is Associate Professor at the Faculty of Pharmacy of the University of Coimbra and Group Leader of "Neuroendocrinology and Aging group" at Center for Neuroscience and Cell Biology, University of Coimbra. She leads the funded project GendER@UC. She was the former Vice-rector for Research and Doctoral Studies of the University of Coimbra (2019-2023), and Director of the Institute for Interdisciplinary Research of the University of Coimbra (2019-2023).

Teresa Almeida Cravo

Teresa Almeida Cravo is Associate Professor in International Relations at the Faculty of Economics and a Researcher at the Centre for Social Studies, both at the University of Coimbra. In the last few years, she was the Head of the International Relations Department at FEUC, as well as the Coordinator of its undergraduate degree in International Relations, the Coordinator of the Master programme in International Relations - Peace, Security and Development Studies and the Co-coordinator of the FEUC-CES PhD Programme "Democracy in the XXIst Century".

Ana Freitas

Ana Freitas is the manager of the Transversal and Transferable Skills Programme, School of Engineering, University of Porto. She has a Master's Degree in Educational Sciences, and she is accredited as a teacher trainer (by C.C.P.F.C.) and as a trainers' trainer (by I.E.F.P.), having taught over 500 hours on topics related to teaching and learning in higher education. She has experience working for 17 years in Higher Education Institutions, in the field of educational consultancy and support, pedagogical coordination, academic and event management, as well as research in higher education pedagogy. She also collaborated on 6 (inter) national and funded projects, did more than 50 presentations at scientific events and published more than 30 abstracts and papers. She supervised 3 curricular internships and 3 professional internships.

Petra Guasti

Petra Guasti is Associate Professor of Democratic Theory at the Faculty of Social Sciences, Charles University in Prague, and a Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Sociology, Czech Academy of Sciences. Between 2022 and 2025, she was a co-PI of SYRI (National Institute for Research on the Socio-Economic Impact of Diseases and Systemic Risks), supported by the CZ National Recovery Plan. In SYRI, she also led a PA5 team working on polarization, populism & democratic resilience.

Alexander Hasgall

Alexander Hasgall is the Head of the Council for Doctoral Education, European University Association (EUA). He is responsible for a network of more than 240 European Universities from 35 countries, dedicated to the further development and strengthening of doctoral education and research training in Europe.

Tristram Hooley

Tristram Hooley is a career development expert and researcher based in the United Kingdom and Norway. He is Professor of Career Education at the University of Derby and the Inland Norway University. He has published numerous articles and books on career development. He is also a regular speaker at conferences and events related to career development and has served on several national and international advisory boards. His research focuses on issues related to career guidance, social justice, and education policy. He also writes the Adventures in Career Development blog at <https://adventuresincareerdevelopment.wordpress.com/>.

Isabel Huet

Isabel Huet is Assistant Professor at the Department of Education and Distance Learning at the Open University in Portugal, Invited Research Fellow in Education at the University of Hertfordshire, and Honorary doctoral supervisor at the University of Liverpool in the UK. She is the author of several publications and communications, coordinator of international projects, and supervisor of doctoral students in national and international universities. Her research has been very focused on adult and professional learning and development, higher education (HE) pedagogy, doctoral education, and distance education and supervision. Currently, she coordinates an international project with the UK and Brazil related to the professional development of postgraduate supervisors, funded by the British Academy, and participates in a European project related to hybrid teaching in HE and artificial intelligence.

Klára Kosová

Klára Kosová is a doctoral researcher at the Institute of International Studies, Charles University of Prague.

Klara Bolander Laksov

Klara Bolander Laksov is Professor of Higher Education and Director of the Stockholm University Centre for the Advancement of University Teaching. She is previous chair of the Swedish Educational Development network, Swednet and a co-editor of the International Journal for Academic Development. Klara Bolander Laksov is actively involved in many international collaborations. Her research focuses on educational development, for example on pedagogical leadership, local educational cultures, scholarship of teaching and learning, and organisational change in higher education. She is currently working on a project where opportunities for life long learning in different public sector work environments, including higher education, are explored regarding the sustainability of formal and informal learning.

Joery Matthys

Joery Matthys is Assistant Professor at the Institute of Security and Global Affairs. He recently concluded a study on the supervision and monitoring of criminal investigations by State actors in Belgium and the Netherlands.

Ana Filipa Neves

Ana Filipa Neves holds a PhD in International Relations – International Politics and Conflict Resolution from the University of Coimbra in collaboration with the Centre for Social Studies and the European Master's Degree in Human Rights and Democratisation by the University of Graz. She is a young researcher at the Centre for Social Studies, University of Coimbra.

Tomáš Prouza

Tomáš Prouza is the President of the Czech Confederation of Trade and Tourism, a Vice-President of the Czech Chamber of Commerce and a Vice-President of EuroCommerce. He is also a Special Advisor to the Czech Minister of Industry and Trade. Before returning to private sector in 2018, he was State Secretary for European Affairs of the Czech Republic (2014-2017). His previous experience includes working for the World Bank in Washington, D.C. and being a Deputy Minister of Finance responsible for financial markets, European Union and fiscal policy, as well as co-founding and operating two successful startups.

Ana Salgado

Ana Salgado has a PhD in Educational Psychology by Universidade do Minho. She is currently Professor at University of Porto, School of Sciences and Porto Polytechnic School of Health, AScience Portugal. Ana worked for several years as a lecturer at the Portuguese Catholic University at Braga, and also as a school psychologist in private and public schools (from Kindergarten to High School). Ana is also experienced in designing and delivering adult training in communication skills. She is an active member of Invicta Toastmasters Club at Porto. Her research interests include communication, gamification and self-regulated learning.

Anna Schüth

Anna Schüth is an experienced postdoctoral researcher with a demonstrated history of working in the higher education. Skilled in STEM, animal models, light-sheet and two-photon microscopy. Strong research professional graduated from Maastricht University. Raising awareness for academic mental health & stigma on annaschueth.com.

Rasmus Stenderup

Rasmus Stenderup is a doctoral researcher at the Department of Political Science in University of Copenhagen. He is part of the research Group Public Administration and Policy. Rasmus' PhD project is about potentially unnecessary bureaucracy in the public sector - and more specifically, it is about how to find out when, in an administrative process, individuals experience their interaction with a public organisation as costly. The project is based on the concept of 'bureaucratic sludge' and from there it develops a methodology to identify sludge in public organisations.

Sophie Veriter

Sophie Veriter is a doctoral researcher at the Institute of Security and Global Affairs (ISGA) of Leiden University and a Europaeum Scholar. She specialises in disinformation and counter-disinformation, European democracy, and global governance. Sophie takes an inter-disciplinary approach to academia, building on her background in law, political science, international relations, and security studies.

Gitte Wichmann-Hansen

Gitte Wichmann-Hansen, MA, PhD is a Senior researcher at Aarhus University, Denmark, and owner of the consultancy Academic Supervision that offers high quality professional training of research supervisors. She is an established and publishing researcher within the field of supervision, and she has 20+ years of experience with running workshops for supervisors at all career stages across European Universities.

Anders Wivel

Anders Wivel is a Professor of International Relations in the Department of Political Science, University of Copenhagen. His research seeks to advance our understanding of how power politics is being transformed in the Euro-Atlantic area and how this transformation affects both the challenges and opportunities of small states. In general his work engages strongly with the realist perspective on international relations, and his research publications include purely theoretical work as well as in-depth theoretically informed empirical analyses based on a variety of written sources and interviews. Anders is Head of PhD programme at the Department of Political Science, UCPH.

Adriana Zait

Adriana Zait is the Chair of the Doctoral Studies Working Group of the Coimbra Group. She is professor and director of the Doctoral School of Economics and Business Administration from the University Alexandru Ioan Cuza Iasi, Romania. As PhD theses coordinator in Marketing, she supervised 29 doctoral students from 2007 to the present, and has been member in more than 30 doctoral coordination commissions.